Believe it or not, but these gorgeous creatures, performers at the Sahara Club, and followers of Fawzia Amir, are coming to McGill. Yes boys, you can see them at the Flying Carpet Revue, starting on Thursday night. Tickets to this event are still available, and it is rumoured that the carpetnaughts have changed their minds about leaving the campus.

Free University Year Given At Carnival Ball

"As a result of this year's Winter Carnival Masquerade Ball, some student will enjoy a free year at McGill," Emerson Hughes, Promotions Chairman of Carnival, announced last night that Dow Brewery Limited has offered a very large cash donation to Carnival, and that the Executive has decided to allocate $500 of this money as the main door prize for the Ball.

The money will be deposited with the cashier of the University to cover the winner's fees for next year, and any surplus will be given to the lucky man or woman to offset the cost of books. This decision is part of the committee's attempt to help a few students each year with their university education.

However if the winner is a graduating student or someone not needing the money for fees, the prize will take the form of a Canada Savings bond for the full $500.

"Dow has been extremely generous" said Hughes, "and although no strings were attached to the money, we thought they would be pleased with our decision. Considering that the admission to the Ball is only $2.50 per person, someone is going to go home with a two hundred thousand percent profit in addition to the great time assured to all."

New Trophy

In addition to the cash donation, Dow will also provide a new trophy, bearing their name, for the Men's Fraternity Snow Sculpture Contest. This trophy should give the whole contest a new lift and spur the icy-artists on to greater heights. Finally, this same company will donate ten pewter mugs to be used as prizes for the various events.

Lenny Flanz, Vice-Chairman of the Carnival, said that with this generous addition, the Masquerade Ball should definitely be a record success. Tickets for the February 16 event should be forthcoming soon and nominations for Carnival

Queen, signed by 25 students and countersigned by the nominee, should be handed in to the Tuck Shop by January 28.

Inter-University Debates Open With McGill Victory

McGill debaters were unanimously victorious yesterday in the first round of the Inter-University Debating League. Both the negative debaters Charles Dalfen and Howard Golden, and the affirmative team of Nick Russell and Ron Berger defeated the speakers from Bishop's University.

This was the first debate of a series sponsored by the National Federation of Canadian University Students. Universities from all over Canada are participating in the event. Members of the Eastern Division of the tournament include McGill, Bishop's, St. Patrick's University of Ottawa, and the University of Ottawa. There will be three rounds of debates, and the college with the greatest total points will debate against the winner from the Western Division for the National Championship.

Dalfen and Golden debated at McGill yesterday against Bishop's John Martland and Al Henderson on the national topic: "Resolved: that euthanasia is justified". The judges of the event, Myron Galloway, S.E.C. Secretary-Treasurer, Professor J.D. Ross of the Department of Philosophy, and Professor

Beatty Lectures Given By Historian A. Rowse

"History and Contemporary Society" will be the general subject of this year's Sir Edward Beatty Memorial lectures, which will be given by Dr. A. Rowse, of All Souls College, Oxford. The lectures will take place on the evenings of January 29, 31, and February 5.

Dr. Rowse is a distinguished scholar, and he has written numerous works on a wide range of historical subjects. Believing that the results of scholarship should be made available, in good prose, to the general, literate public, his "The England of Elizabeth" is an example of the truth in the idea—it sold more than 120,000 copies in Britain alone.

He also believes that history teaches by experience and he has written vigorously on recent affairs, including works on John Maynard Keynes and a biography of Sir Winston Churchill. At present he is completing a biography of William Shakespeare for the Fourth Centenary in 1964.

Three Lectures

In his first lecture at McGill, Dr. Rowse will discuss "The Political Uses of History". "The Role of Germany in Modern History" will be the subject of his second lecture, and his final lecture will be on the topic "The Responsibility of the Historian".

The Beatty lectures were established by a generous gift from the late Dr. H. A. Beatty, in memory of his brother, Sir Edward Beatty, who was Chancellor of the University from 1920 until his death in 1943. Through this gift, McGill is enabled once each session to invite a distinguished scholar to visit the University and to discuss some of the great problems confronting the present generation.

Admission to the lecture is by ticket only. Students wishing to attend should obtain their tickets (which are free) from the Registrar's Office. Separate tickets will be needed for each lecture.

Revue Announces MP Real Caouette As Latest Patron

Réal Caouette, M.P., Deputy Leader of the Social Credit Party, has agreed to become a patron of the Red & White Revue, "Something For Nothing".

Invitations to the political leaders portrayed in the show were sent to Ottawa some time ago, but no reply was received from Mr. Caouette. Finally, Laurie Léger, producer, phoned the Government office in Ottawa and asked for Mr. Caouette. Upon being told that he was not in, Léger decided to speak to Mr. Thompson, whereupon the operator demanded, "Who's he?"

Caouette was finally reached at his home in Rouyn, Quebec, and he officially agreed to become a patron of the Red & White. In addition, he added that he would try and attend the opening performance of the show, which will run from February 7-15 in Moysse Hall.

Three Patrons

To date, three of the four politicians invited, Mayor Jean Drapeau, John Turner, M.P., and Caouette, have agreed to give the show patronage. Robert Thompson, National Leader of the Socreds is the only politician from whom the Red & White has not as yet heard.

Rehearsals are running smoothly and on schedule. However, Léger announced that female bunions "with self-contained thermostats for instant heating" are needed for the Red & White parade, which will be staged as a "Bunny Hop" down St. Catherine Street in order to publicize the Revue.

Tickets are on sale at the Union Box Office for $1.75 and $2.25, and are selling like wildfire. Opening night and Saturday performances are almost sold out.

The Open Society?

The Open Society, its goals, mechanics, and methods, has recently been the subject of much comment in these columns. As university students and citizens we feel concerned with the form of government under which we live and the techniques that government employs to promote its well being. While all is not and will never be black or white, good or bad, even in our bipolar world; while we cannot hope to perfect our Western society, just as the Communists will never achieve their Marxian ideal; we must nevertheless be constantly on our guard and condemn those tactics which, while designed to protect our way of life, are likely to undermine it.

If it is deserving of our loyalty, the Open Society must be capable of responding to threats in its own terms and not by resorting to authoritarian tactics which are foreign to its ideals. It was for this reason that we protested the expulsion of Gus Hall from Canada. It is for this reason that we will protest any curtailment of fundamental freedoms, albeit in the name of freedom.

In recent weeks an ugly spectre has raised its head in Canadian university spheres. Beginning with a very unfortunate incident in Winnipeg, questioning the right of a prominent educator to take visitors, on a tour of that city, wherever he liked, rumors of RCMP infiltration into Canadian universities have grown rapidly. Stories of students engaged by this respected police force to report on the activities of their fellow students and their professors have become widespread. From the lips of the overly dramatic, the word McCarthyism is being used to describe the problem.

In an effort to clarify this situation authoritatively, the Canadian Association of University Teachers, representing the faculties of 39 universities, formally requested, on January 8, a statement from the Justice Department. After dealing at some length with the undesirability of such practices and the extent to which they threaten academic freedom, the letter concluded with the following request:—

"We do not assert that these charges are true; we do earnestly request the Department (of Justice) to give us some information as to their truth or falsity."

Two weeks have passed and no reply has been forthcoming. It cannot be that the Justice Department does not know the answer to such a serious question. Surely, even if this were the case, immediate inquiries by the Minister of Justice would have elicited prompt answers.

Perhaps the authorities feel that their silence will result in the entire issue "dying down". If so they are suffering from a grave misunderstanding of the situation. Far from "dying down", this question, if unanswered, will grow out of all proportions with very serious results. No one denies the government the right to maintain a veil of secrecy when matters of national security are concerned. However, the resentment which such unconfirmed rumors are certain to breed is, in the long run, far more damaging than an honest admission that a program of surveillance has been undertaken, if indeed it has. We would unquestionably regret the latter. We must deplore the former. For the sake of our entire educational system and political heritage it is vital that this matter be settled as quickly as possible.

The Secretary-Treasurer Reports On

First Term Progress

by MYRON J. GALLOWAY

As a new term begins, it is important to consider what benefits have accrued on the credit side of the Students' Society ledger during the fall term recently completed. The benefits referred to are not of an exclusively financial nature, but include also those positive achievements, imaginative innovations and healthy expansions brought about through the efforts of your Students' Executive Council.

The budgets passed in October had expenditures which showed a total in excess of $205,000. Every possible effort was made by the Finance Committee to ensure all student organizations the necessary support to carry on and, wherever possible, to expand their activities. The theory behind this being that it was the responsibility of Council to encourage as broad a participation as possible in campus activities.

If any one achievement can be singled out to take precedence over all others, this no doubt would be the finalizing of plans for the new Union. Throughout the summer months of July and August, representatives of the SEC, including the Students' Society President, worked along with Mr. Guy Desbarats, of Affleck, Desbarats, Dimakopoulos, Lebensold, Michaud and Sise, in order to facilitate the preparation and submission of the final working plans for the new building, so that its actual construction could begin early in 1963 without further delay. The first step in this direction has already taken place with the demolition of the buildings on the McTavish Street site.

Investigate Costs

Next in importance was the setting up by Council of a committee to look into the operating costs of the new building. Estimates were made and a budget projected, after a thorough investigation had been carried out in consultation with experts. This budget gave conclusive evidence that additional revenue would have to be obtained if the students were to continue to manage their own building as they have done in the past.

To accomplish this, an open meeting of the Students' Society was called and presented with a proposed amendment to the constitution raising fees to cover these additional management and administrative expenses. The amendment was passed, to become effective during the 1964-65 session.

As a direct result of the Sociological Survey inaugurated during a previous session and completed during this past term, an Education Committee was set up to investigate various aspects of students' opportunities (a) to receive the benefit of a university education, (b) to receive proper guidance in the choice of courses and (c) to receive a more individual type of attention and consideration throughout his college life when needed, to avoid loss of his personal identity as a student. These are but a few of the aims of the committee, which has now drawn up a questionnaire to be distributed to students this term.

The success of last year's chartered flight has resulted in a new one, accommodating more students, being arranged by the SEC in conjunction with the NFCUS Travel Department.

A new contract was negotiated for an Accident and Sickness Insurance Policy which doubled the protection previously offered from $500 to $1,000 for any student who wished to take advantage of the coverage on a purely voluntary basis.

The Broadcasting Committee's educational FM program completed a successful year of operation with CFCF, and have been in the process of expanding their output with the approval of Council.

The Annual has broken all sales records this year with the sale of 2,150 copies of Old McGill, as against a previous high of 1,900 copies.

Deposits Mandatory

To counteract a repetition of expenses incurred for damage done to trains during special football excursions to Toronto and Kingston, a new policy was established this year whereby a $2.00 deposit was made by each student when purchasing a ticket, refundable a week to ten days later once it was ascertained no damage had been done. Twice the deposit was returned, but unfortunately, winning the Yates Trophy in Kingston seemed too much for some of our more enthusiastic football fans, and the last deposit was used to pay the tab.

The Daily, with additional financial support from Council, has added pages to its regular issues, brought out special issues, and has raised the general level of the paper immeasurably as a result. The Blood Drive, while falling short of its goal, nevertheless did manage to squeeze a few more pints than ever before out of the more conscientious members of the student body.

Treasure Van topped previous records on our campus, and the Debating Union was more prolific than ever before. The Open House program, an event which takes place every three years at McGill, played a prominent part in fall activities and succeeded in doing an excellent job of public relations. Not only did it increase its scope, but it spent less money than its budget called for; a tribute to its committee.

The SEC scholarship program followed tradition by providing three bursaries for McGill students and paying for two full-sized scholarships for foreign students, in co-operation with the World University Service of Canada.

Charity Split Change

A reallocation of money collected through the Combined Charities Campaign this year has been made, the recipients now being: World University Service of Canada 50%; Canadian University Service Overseas 10% (which will be matched by an equal amount from Council); Canadian Cancer Society 10%; Montreal Association for Multiple Sclerosis 10%; Quebec Heart Foundation 10%, and Muscular Dystrophy Association 10%.

On the whole, your Students' Executive Council has fulfilled its responsibility with imagination, foresight and conscientiousness. Each year, with increased enrolment as well as an increase in the number of students who become interested in student activities, the pressures on your Council increase also.

All things considered, it is safe to say that your Council last term may, with complete justification, be given a great deal of credit for having acquitted itself with a high degree of distinction.

Folk Singing Concert Features Jean Ritchie

Jean Ritchie, American mountain singer, will present a concert in Redpath Hall Friday night at 8:30. The Kentucky-born singer who will present folksinging as it has been in the mountains for centuries, is being brought to McGill by the Campus Folk Singing Society.

Miss Ritchie is the youngest of 14 children in a family known as the "Singing Ritchies". She sings in a light, clear, untrained voice and makes her presentations in a free-flowing and tasteful style. She has sung both in the US and in Europe.

Viper, Ky.

The tiny village where she was born has resisted the march of progress and still follows the old customs and patterns of work. Thus the old-world ballads still remain, much as in former days.

The songs she sings have been handed down from generation to generation and some of them date back to the British Isles. So in 1952, she won a Fulbright Scholarship to trace the songs back in Great Britain and to compare the various styles in which they are sung. The following year, she attended the International Conference of Folk Music as the sole American representative.

She has written several books, including the "Singing Family of the Cumberlands" and is currently working on two more.

Coke Machine's Cup Runneth Over In Dry Basement

by SIR OKA

The Coke machine in the Union basement has lately been developing a reputation for unreliability rivalled only by Canadian defence policy.

From the opening of the term, Union regulars suspected something was not up to par with the dime-eater. Flashing lights, warning prospective customers not to use what is in Canada perfectly legal tender, bathed the corridor in an eerie glow. Unaccountable noises from within suggested a little man with bronchitis sitting in the red cage pouring drinks.

Things built up to the point where people were convinced the machine truly had a mind of its own, in contrast to other Union fixtures. Justification came quickly last week when someone inserted a particularly abusive dime — a cup fell down as usual.

Like Rabbits

Several moments later a second cup popped out; in fact, cups kept coming at a constant rate of one every six and one-half seconds for over one hour. No coke, but lots of cups. In fact, a cup castle was constructed, rivaling the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Building; figure it out for yourself — it comes to somewhere near 602 of the little paper dears.

Today, this reporter, in good faith, inserted a dime in the mechanical monster. Lo and behold, — no cups, just Coke!

ASUS Meeting

The ASUS representatives, Ingrid Hall and Charles Dalfen, will hold a meeting at 1 pm in the Cue Room, Union basement to discuss grievances with students of the Arts or Science faculties.

Robarts Objects To Communists At UWO

LONDON (CUP) — Ontario Premier John Robarts has blasted a proposal by two unidentified University of Western Ontario students that a Communist party should be started on the Western campus.

On a visit to the campus, Robarts said "I don't think a Communist party is a good thing anywhere." Robarts stated that there was no need to be introduced to Communism in order to learn about it. If it is to be understood it can be studied, he said. "But," said the premier, "I am certainly not advocating the formation of a Communist cell on the campus of the University of Western Ontario."

Meanwhile, the University of Western Ontario student newspaper, The Gazette, has invited a local Communist party chairman to speak at the university. "...we are not declaring ourselves to be Communist," Gazette Editor-in-Chief Shari Craig said. "In sponsoring this lecture we hope to ensure that Western students interested in learning about Communism will more fully understand the thoughts and ideas of this political organization."

Miss Craig said the invitation of a Communist to speak on the campus would round out the Inter-Political Council's program of political speakers.

Queen Selects 'Dream Date'

This largess is the generous contribution of the Engineering Undergraduate Society to the success of the 32nd Annual Plumbers' Ball, to be bestowed upon the fortunate recipient in the form of a "Dream Date".

This expense-account evening will include dinner for four, a corsage, formal wear for the masculine member of the entourage, and the use of a chauffeur-driven limousine for the evening of January 25. Partners for the evening are, however, not supplied.

Europe-Israel Trip

Europe and Israel are available this summer for anyone who is interested, for the exceptionally low price of $525 return.

Included in this offer are return tickets by jet to London, ZIM passenger liner tickets to Naples-Haifa return, and train fare for travel throughout Europe.

The tentative date for departure is March 15, and the return trip is expected to be made September 5. The group need only travel together to and from London. For further information on arrangements, you can call Arlette Blaustein at RE. 7-5831.

Improved SGWU Teams Face Redmen Hoopsters

Tonight marks the start of the second half of the City Intercollegiate Basketball League schedule when the McGill Redmen face the revitalized Sir George Williams University squad.

So far in city play, the Redmen hold a 4-0 record, having defeated Loyola twice, and both U of M and the Georgians one each. However, the record so far is not indicative of the play which can presumably be expected of the Georgians tonight. Their participation in a holiday tourney against Queen's, MIT, and Penn, has certainly improved them to the extent that we should see a real battle at 8:15 at Currie Gym tonight. Furthermore, the Georgian cagers defeated the Golden Gaels in their encounter during the holiday tourney, while the Redmen dropped a game to the Gaels in a visit to Kingston last weekend.

Leading the Redmen into this fray against their arch rivals is Captain Jack Walker, and another big performance can be expected from ex-Georgian Sy Luteran. Backing the team's defensive efforts is Ian Monteith, a veteran campaigner against the Georgians.

Georgians

Coaching the Georgians is Bob Berkman, a former Redman who took a leading part in the Red and White's victorious season in 1961-'62. Headlining his squad is second

This game represents the second meeting between these two clubs and could be a decisive factor in this season's title race.

Below we have printed the new revised uniform numbers allotted to the team members.

- 11 Monteith, Ian
- 12 Berwick, Jim
- 13 Luteran, Sy
- 14 Chandler, Steve
- 21 Fleming, Dan
- 22 Walker, Jack
- 23 Pepper, Earl
- 33 Wright, Marly
- 42 Mingie, Frank
- 43 Wilkie, Bruce

In the Junior league, the Indians have been working hard for the past several weeks and were showing very well last night. Dave Gillman in particular looked good to Tom Thompson and he plans to use Gillman and Munzar at the post, with Kaback and Clarke as forwards and Kelly at QB. Game time is at 7 pm and the opponents will be Sir George Williams, led by their fine guard, Ron Otto.

THE ICEMAN

With only six games left to play in the OQAA, the Redmen, 6 points behind the league-leading Laval Rouge et Or, have their backs against the wall, needing a win in all their remaining matches to keep in title contention.

Looking back on the first six games, one sees that the Redmen are a hot-and-cold team. The opener against Laval (Laval's only defeat) showed Kelly Burnett's boys playing a brilliantly consistent game, both defensively and up on the forward line.

All the lines did their proper share of the work that game, a factor missing in several subsequent matches. In fact, the failure of the forwards to finish off their plays has been partly responsible for several losses (the two to Toronto, for instance).

This problem has not gone unnoticed, for, coach Burnett has of late been shifting his top two units around, looking for improved results from the new combinations.

The forwards are not alone to blame. The defensive corps, justifiably called one of the better rearguard units in the OQAA, has in the past few games not lived up to its reputation. Panicky clearing of the puck, missed checks, and careless shooting, several times have let opposing snipers break in all alone on staunch John Tennant, whose determined play has often been all that kept the score from being much higher.

Further action in the OQAA is slated for tomorrow evening 8 pm when the Redmen meet the U of M Carabins at the Winter Stadium.

'63 Football Scene Shaping Up Slowly

McGill's 1963 football picture is just beginning to assume perceptible form. Over the past month, Line Coach and head recruiter Ron Murphy has been filing letters to and ferreting out information on a number of footballers in the hope of contacting promising athletes to bolster the ranks of the championship Redmen.

So far, the response to Murphy's probes has been slow but the coach expects things to pick up within the next few weeks. "The boys are just beginning to make plans for the school year," he told the Daily yesterday. However, Murphy's investment has shown some profit.

From Loyola

It appears that there are three good prospects headed east from Loyola. Peter Howlett looks like a man who will capably fill the void that is going to be created by the graduating Ian Monteith. Howlett, a fourth year Arts student who plans to attend Law school, is highly regarded by his coach Jack Kennedy. The big speedy full-back, who measures 6'2" 220 pounds, also plays linebacker on defence.

The Warriors may also be sending two tackles to McGill. Both Bob Bourgeault and Irv Narvy measure 6'2" and weigh 225 pounds. Bourgeault wants to do a Master's degree in Business Administration (a course that will be introduced at McGill next fall) and Narvy wants to attend Law School. All three Loyolans are reputedly good students and should have good chances of being accepted into the schools of their choice.

McGill Swimmers Make A Showing At Can-Am Meet

Approximately sixty swimmers formed the Canadian Team competing in the Canadian-American Swim Meet in Detroit on Saturday, January 19. Two of them were McGill's Nils Vikander and Bill Peers.

Both agreed that the competition was keener than in any entirely Canadian meet.

Vikander entered one event — the 200 yd. breaststroke. In spite of tying for third spot, the judges gave the decision to his equal, another Canadian. The first and second placers were both from Indiana University, with times under the Canadian record.

Peers

In two individual events, the 100 yard backstroke and the 100 yard freestyle, Peers placed second and fourth respectively. In the former, he finished just seven-tenths of a second behind the winner, who was clocked at 60.1.

Peers' time for the 100 yd. freestyle was 53.1, the winner having a time of 50.8 seconds. He also a member of the Canadian Relay team in the 200 yd. freestyle, finishing a close second with a time of 1:35.3.

Incidentally, in spite of the efforts of Vikander and Peers, the Americans routed the Canadian Team with 294 points for the complete afternoon while Canadians managed a total of 89.
